Faculty

George Loveless and Garold Skinner plot class schedules for students.

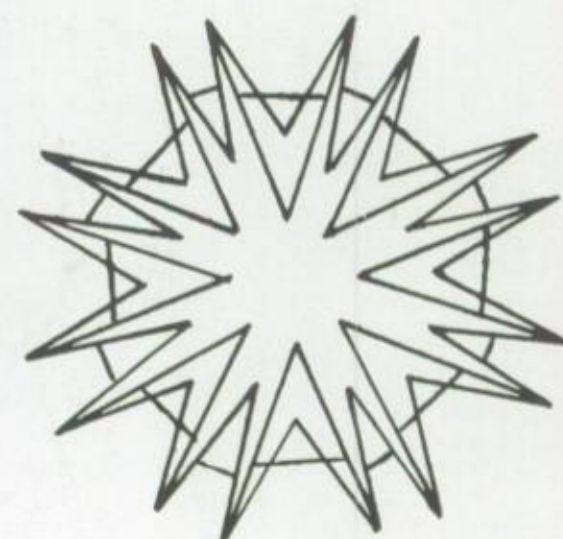

Members of the faculty have worked hard to keep good ol' MHS running smoothly this year. With the cooperation and assistance of each faculty member, the seven-period day has been a complete success.

Each faculty member has dedicated his career to the betterment of our school. Besides their curricular obligations, the faculty members have served as advisors for classes, clubs, and organizations.

We, the students of MHS, would like to express our gratitude to the faculty for their friendship, interest, and dedication.

Mr. Skinner

Student Council

LaVell Ward

Mr. Ward, counselor, aided students in selecting colleges or trade schools, taking aptitude tests, and solving schedule conflicts.

Marie Tolley

Mrs. Tolley, registrar, worked long hours to iron out each immediate difficulty as it arose.

Mrs. Tolley, Pat Freeman, Gayla Sleight, Jan Michaelson, Mrs. Michaelson and Mr. Phillips participate in before-school office routine.

Bus drivers, Dallas Dorney, LeRoy Ludwig, Rufus Daman, and Berdean Black were responsible for the prompt arrival of out-of-town students each morning. Montaine Kunz and Ernie Bischoff were absent when the picture was taken.

Mrs. Messerly, Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Goebel, Mrs. Williamson, and Mrs. Jacobson, cooks, prepared and served hot lunch twice daily.

Roger Jensen, custodian, and Frank Lloyd and Brian Brown, student janitors, labored both early and late to keep our school clean.

Noon time relaxation to good music in the auditorium sparked Sophomore officers into great activity.

Classes

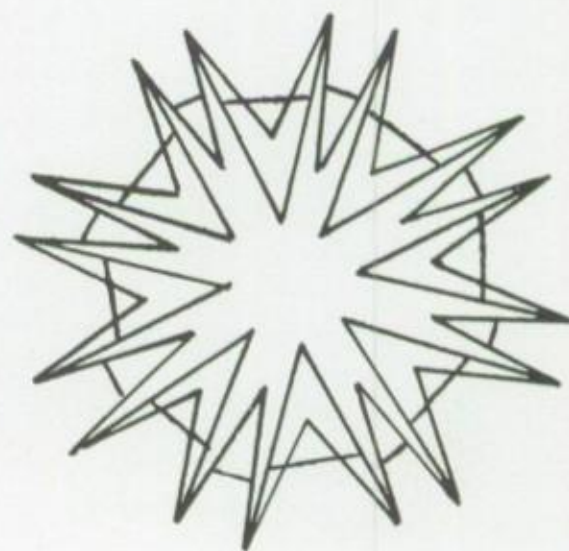

Seniors show a variety of reaction to the information presented to them during a class meeting in the study hall, but when the chips were down and the information digested, the M.H.S. Seniors presented a united front.

Senior boys Rex Talbot, and Kent Twiss naturally offer assistance to the Frosh girls during the whitewashing of the M.

The Freshman steps into the whirl of high school life with a gasp and a sigh. About the time he begins to feel at ease, he finds that it's summer vacation, and he is a Sophomore. As a Sophomore, he gets around a little more. Before he knows it, the year has gone. As a Junior, he can enjoy the great life of an upperclassman, and look forward to the highlight of his Junior year—the Junior Prom. Last is the Senior year, the dawn of the closing day of the high school career. Hopes for the future start to take definite shape. And then, graduation! Suddenly, it's over! All that is left is a happy memory of four wonderful years at MHS.

Seniors

The seniors look back on their last year at M.H.S. with a sight of relief, a smile of amusement, and a glow of pride.

Led by Phil Parker, president; MarJean Nelson, secretary; and Kent Twiss, vice president; the class held a "Come As You Were" party, supervised the white-washing of the "M" by the freshmen, and sponsored a successful Senior Ball—a financial disaster.

The class assembly, "Pages Through the Ages", directed by Dean Anderson and Polly June Crane, was one of the highlights of their senior year.

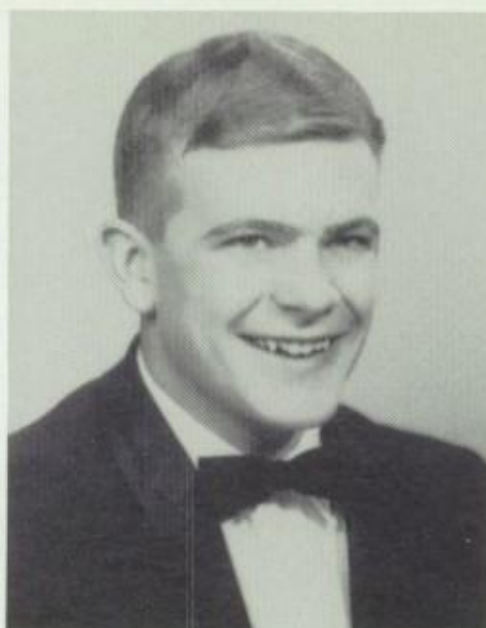

Nancy Teuscher, student council representative, worked very hard to get all of their dates passed through the student council.

Juniors

The excellent leadership of Pat Freeman, president; Doug Hyldahl, vice president; and Marsha Ipsen, secretary; made the Juniors one of the richest classes in school from a financial as well as a scholastic point of view.

Under the direction of Lynn Michaelson, Assembly committeewoman, their class assembly, featuring television programs, was very successful.

Craig Hirschi represented the class in Student Council.

The ingenuity of the leaders and advisors made the Junior Prom a dance to remember.

Highlighting the growing progress of the Sophomores was the class assembly under the direction of Scott Kunz, assembly committeeman. The Sophomores successfully sold concessions at many home games, and had a "riot" of a class party. During Homecoming, they won the skit contest for their ingenious "funeral procession."

The world is full of music and we enjoyed our share in the Madrigal group.

Organizations

How would you like to be shipwrecked on an island with this crew?

It just takes a little ingenuity to have a little fun. Our Pep Club always did.

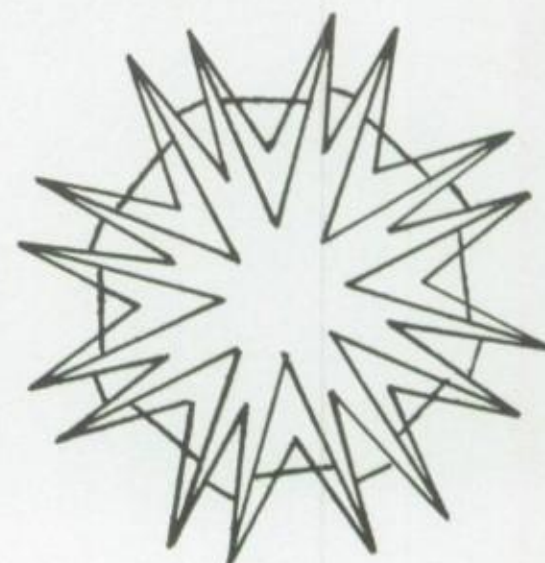

The many clubs and organizations of MHS were very active this year. The Pep Club and Pepettes kept the school spirit high while the Pep Band added pep and "that sound of music" to our ball games.

The chorus and girls' glee gave an excellent performance at the annual Christmas Cantata.

The Grizzly was at its usual best, and as for the Idamont—look for yourself!

The FTA, FHA, FFA, and Spanish Club were always busy with parties and projects, and the reorganized Photo Club proved to be very successful.

Yes, the past year was a very busy one for all of MHS's clubs and organizations.

Activities

Class activities were fun and beneficial.

School dances added greatly to our fun activities.

Through both work and play we express our outer selves and our inner selves. Participating in our school's activities—class assemblies, banquets, parties, and dances—helped us to grow and to mature, in fun as well as work.

In school activities students were able to use their individual talents. Music students presented the Christmas Cantata and Band Concert and represented Montpelier High School at Music Clinic and Music Festival. Students with special acting ability were given parts in plays. Still others with special ability and knowledge of legislative procedures were sent to Youth Legislature, Girls' State, and Boys' State. All in all, everyone who desired could use his talents and participate in school activities.

FROM RAGS TO RICHES

These celebrities (?) Rex (Double-barrel) Skinner, Eve (Spitfire) Crane, Johnny (Pot-belly) Kunz, and JoAnn (Daisy Mae) Rigby were chosen as having the most authentic garbs. They clutch their presents—their first care package in 6 months! Rex feels confident that his package is full of bullets, Eve hopes for pipe tobacco, Johnny needs a can of Metrecal, and JoAnn wants a new skirt.

With shredded clothes, colorful patches and freckles, this poverty stricken group looks as if it just escaped from Dogpatch. That's what it is supposed to look like! The girls ran wild on Sadie Hawkin's day and caught themselves a "man," then dragged the reluctant boys to the Idamont dance.

To revive their dampened spirits after the Homecoming game with Preston, MHS students hot-footed it around the gym—except for the Senior boys. They had been up on M-Hill rearranging the rocks which had been changed to a "P."

Randy Deets, Charles Gregory, and Mark Johnson hold the crowns for the Homecoming Royalty.

After being nominated by the Lettermen, the Student Body elected the Homecoming Royalty. They were presented at the Homecoming assembly and again at the game and at the dance.

The Bears played basketball with all their might.

Sports

The Bears also played football with great determination.

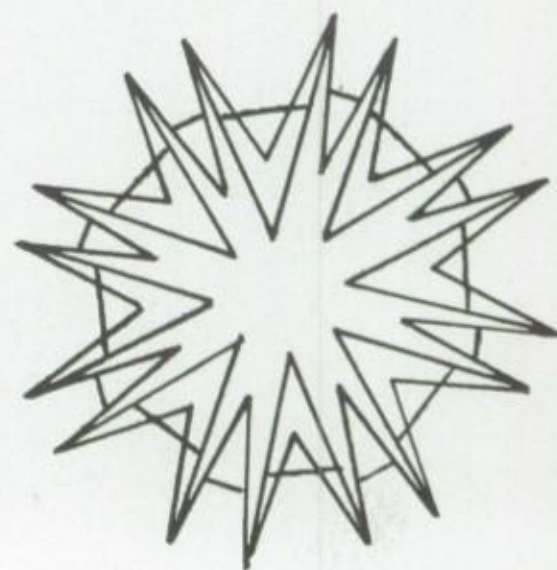

All of our athletic boys showed great spirit throughout the year.

Both triumph and defeat can mean victory if the team has tried. In either case the athlete learns, matures, and develops. He learns teamwork and sportsmanship. He matures in his thinking and his attitude. He develops his athletic skills and his physical condition. Win or lose, he gains much.

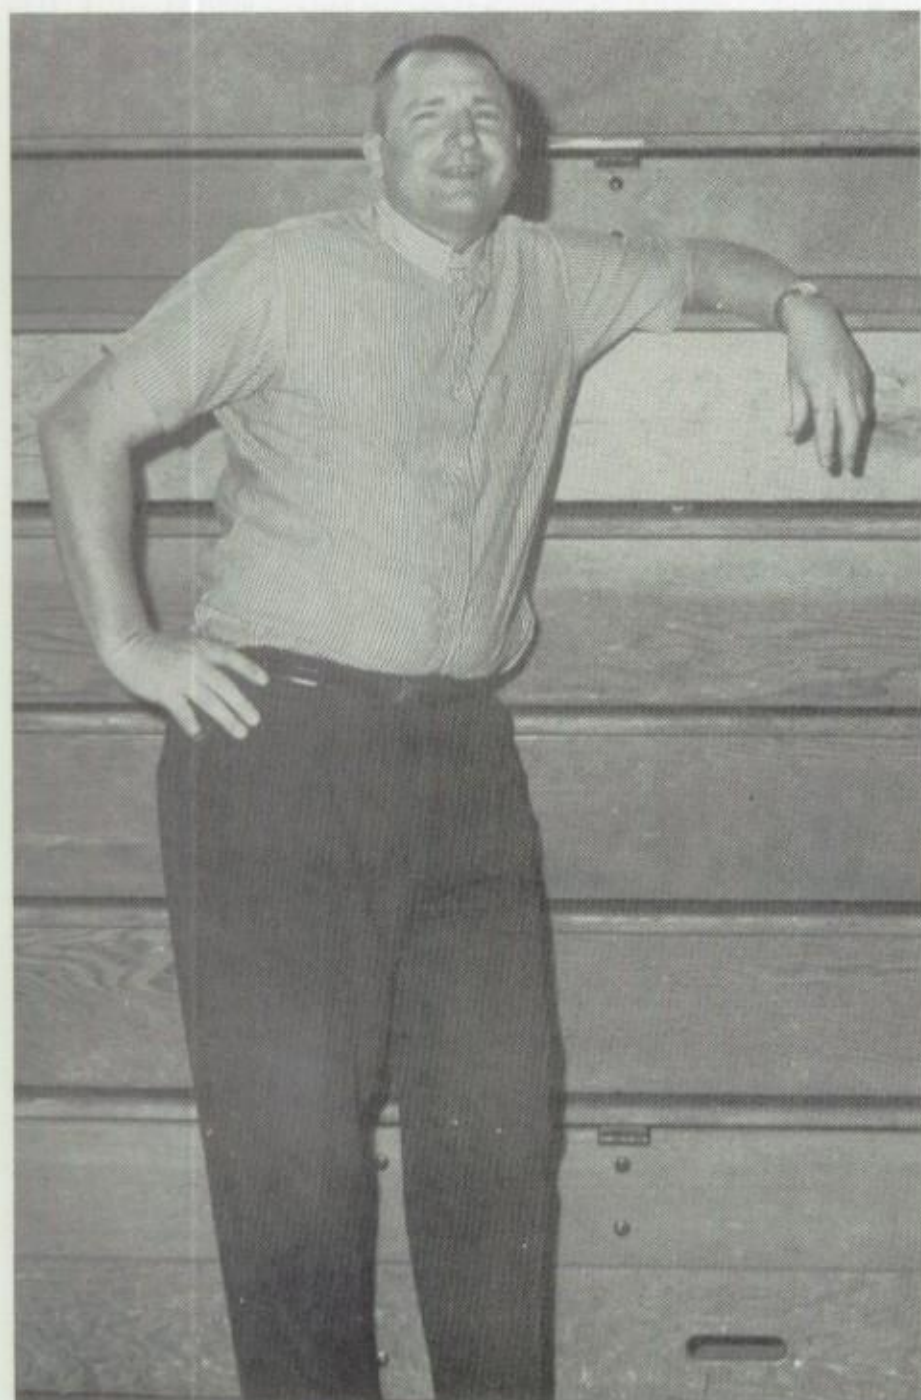

During 1964-1965, the Montpelier High School student body and the teams pulled together to win. Regardless of the score, however, they continued trying. The school pep increased with each contest, game, and match; the teams tried harder and played better with each try. Pep assemblies helped to show the teams that we as a student body cared and wanted everyone to know it. In spite of the results, we all gained, matured, and developed from our teams' spirit and determination.

Action

Mark Johnson applies a tenacious tackle to his much larger American Falls opponent.

Good blocking by the Bears seems to have the Spartans guessing as to who has the ball.

"If they won't move, knock them down!" seems to be the byword as James Hymas rushes headlong into his Preston opponent.

"Where'd that little guy come from?" would seem to be the thought expressed by this Beaver man as Mark Johnson tackles him. Randy Rex (52) moves in.

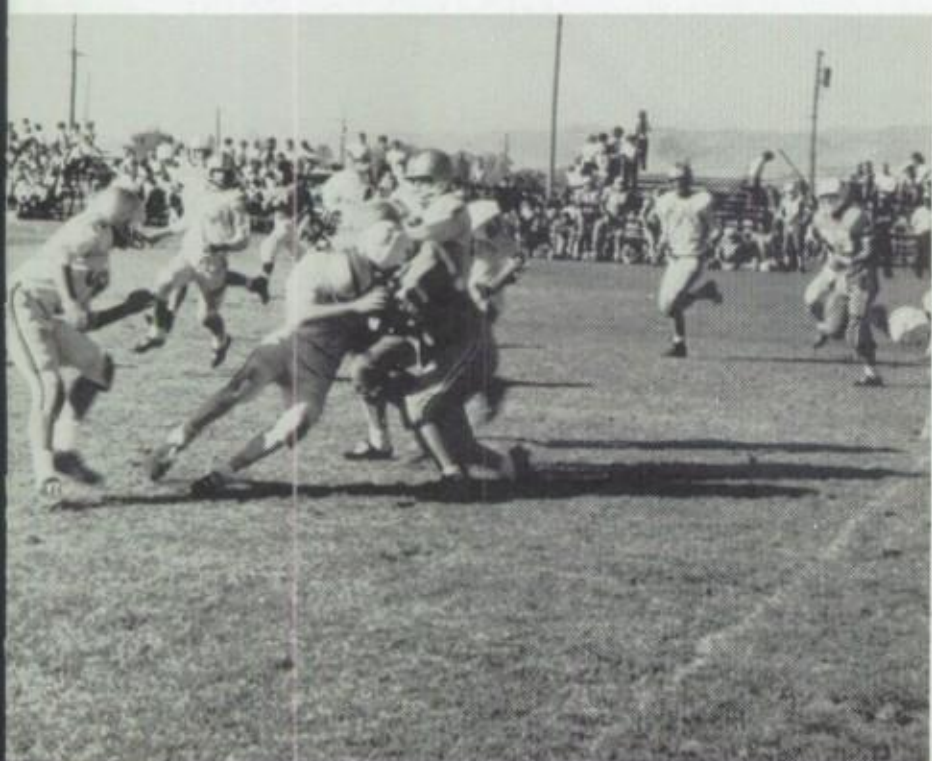

Two Bears apply a crushing tackle to a Marsh Valley opponent as Morgan Barkdull (81) moves in for any needed assistance.

Murray Sneddon shoots for two as Malad opponents and Randy Deets look on.

Bear players begin to move in for position under the basket in action against Soda.

Brent Peterson and Craig Hirschi crouch in readiness for the rebound.

Jim Shepherd is outnumbered by Spartans in an attempt to gain position for a rebound.

Fans' and players' eyes are focused on the rim in the game against the Soda Springs Cardinals.

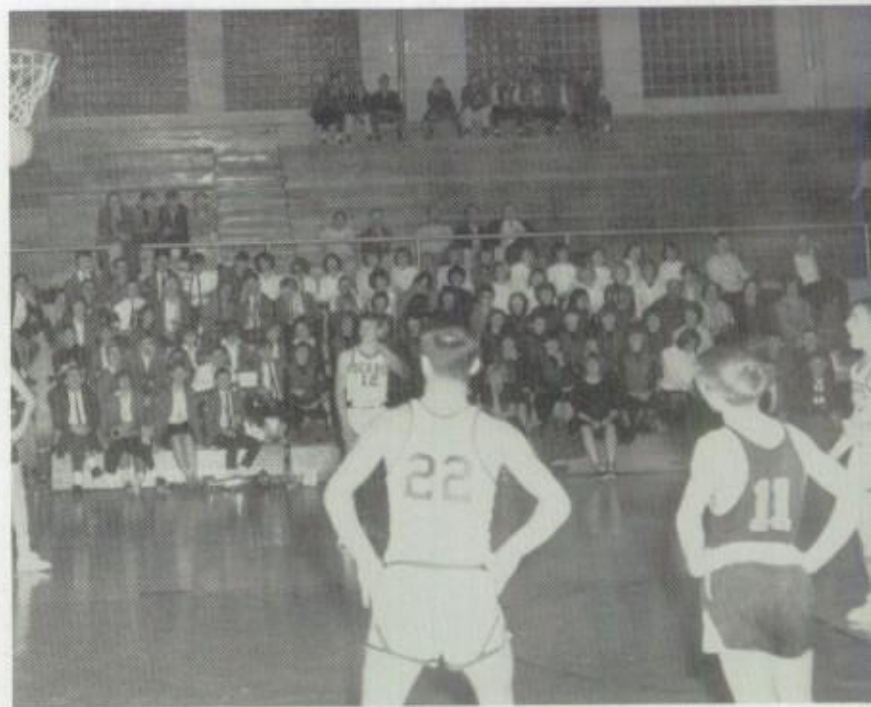

In a tussle under the boards, Ted Larsen is caught in mid-air with the basketball.

The J.V.'s Gary Carver sinks the first of two foul shots in a win over Soda Springs.

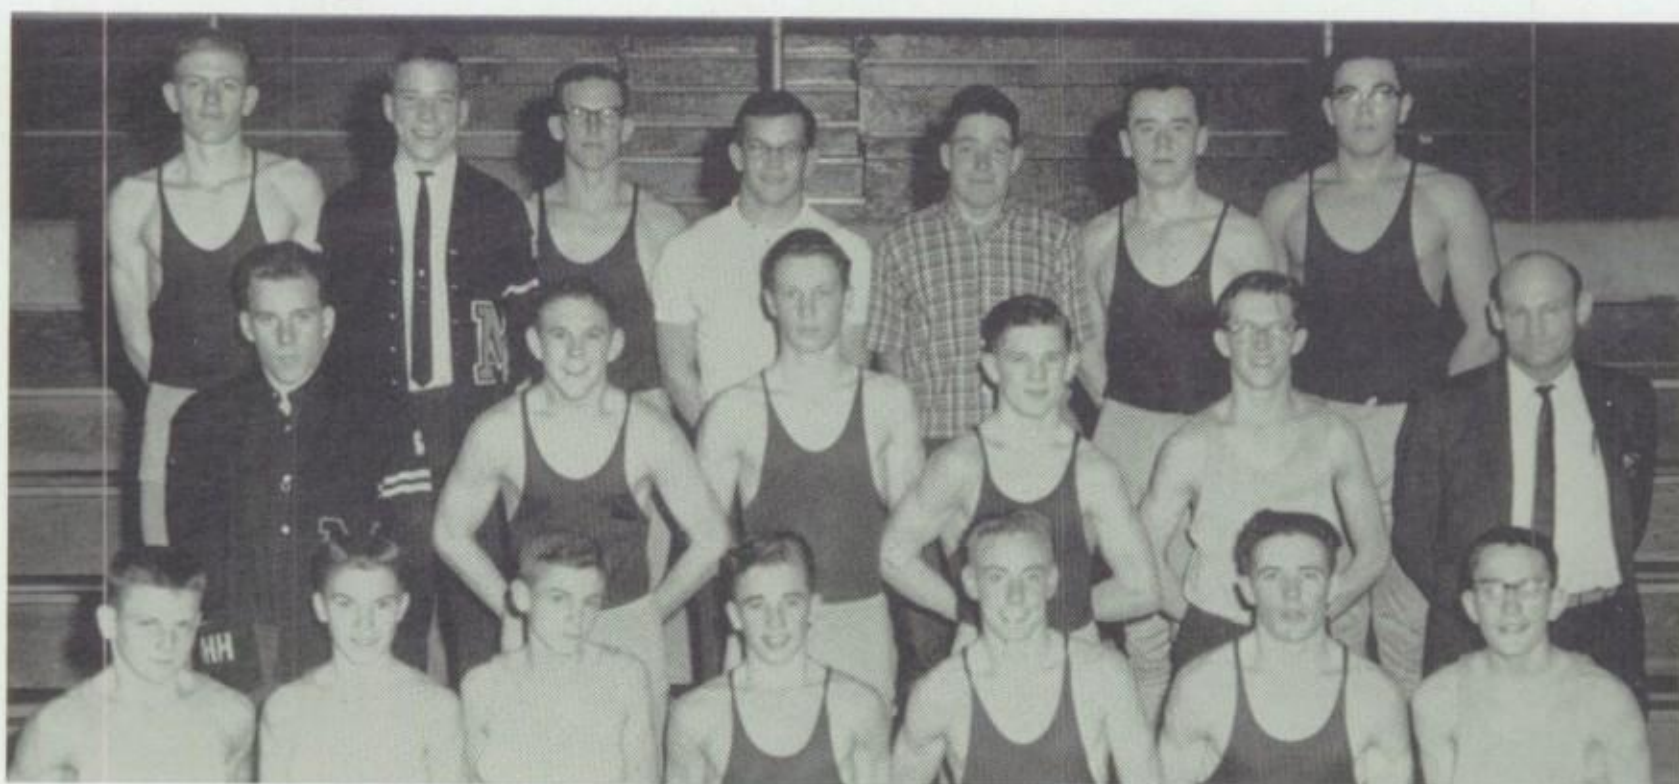

The Bears hustle for a crack at the rebound.

Paul Wigington eagerly eyes the tape as he lunges for first place.

Myron Wilson puts all his body into a try to place for the shot put event.

Track & Field

Greg Fugate lets the discus fly as official, Jon Hyde, looks on.

Charles Gregory snaps the tape to capture first place in the relay.

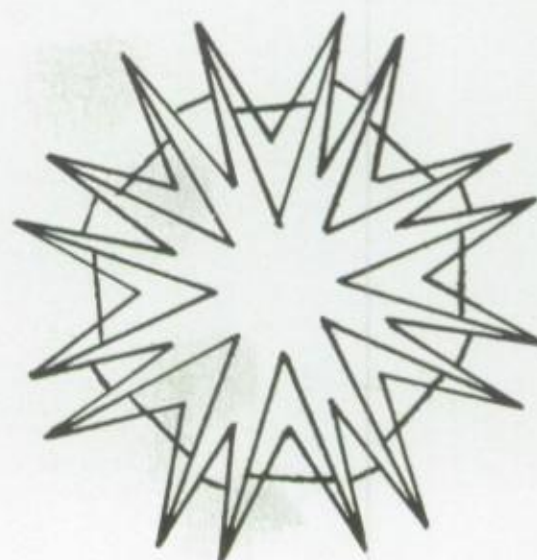

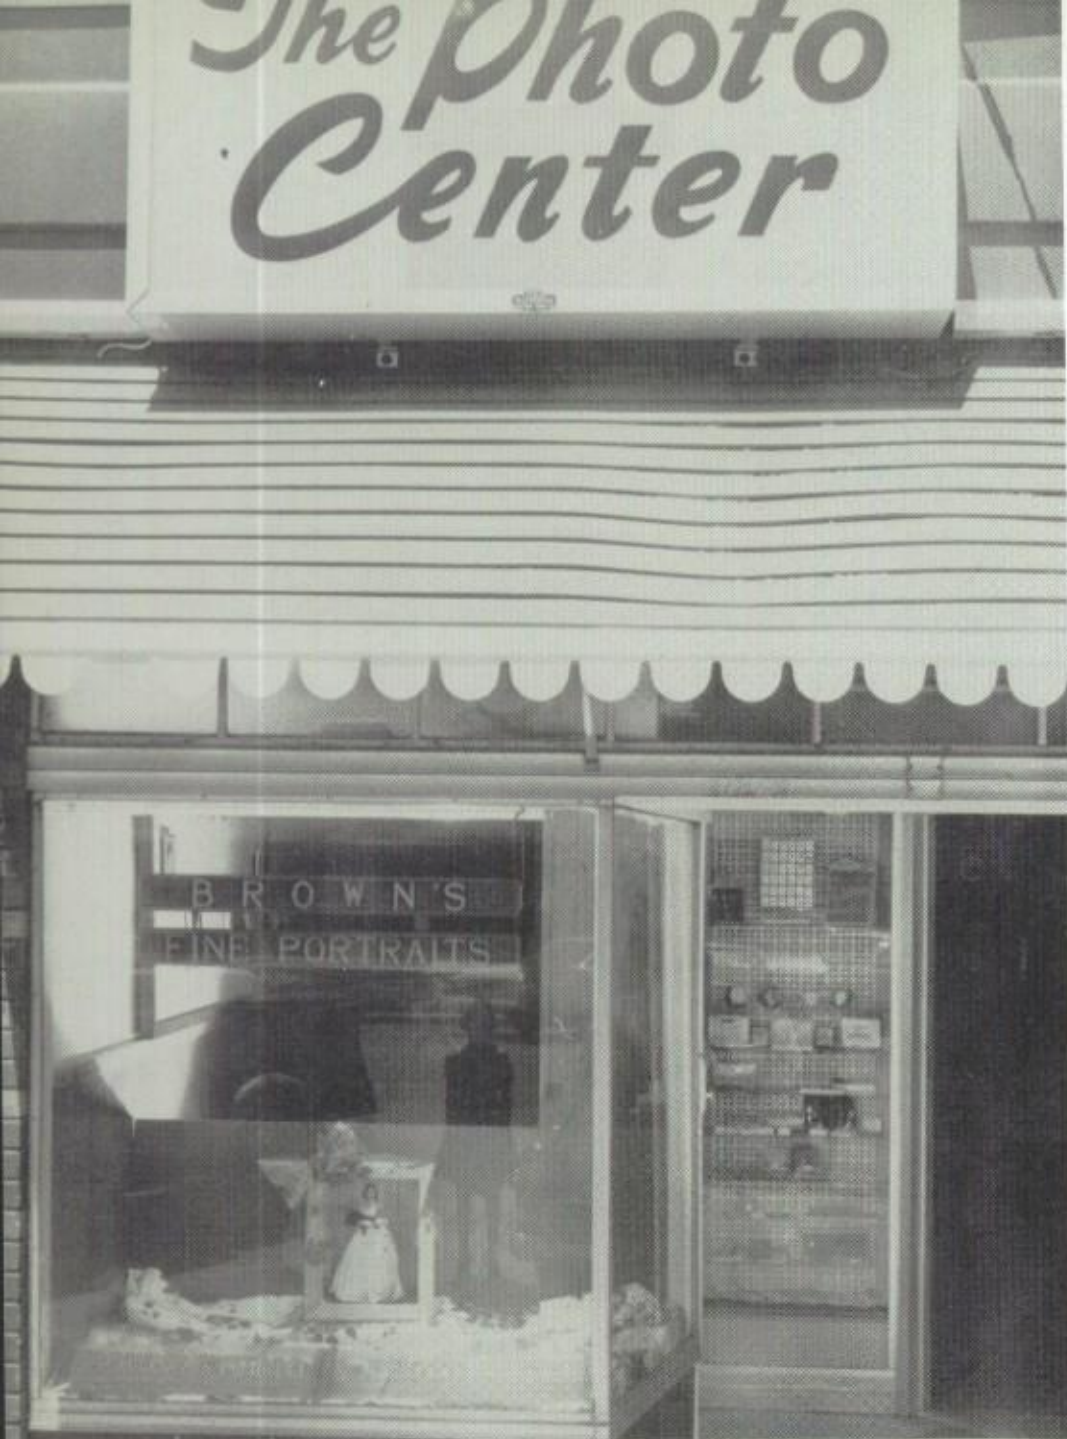

Ads

Aided by the local businessmen, MHS began a financially successful year. The merchants purchased the ads which enabled our Grizzly and Idamont to be published. They supported athletic events by attending the games and matches. As students of Montpelier High School, we owe them a great deal.

Forming the backbone of this yearbook and making it possible are the merchants of our city and those surrounding. The expense of putting out such a yearbook is largely placed on their shoulders.

Renee and I felt they were very cooperative and especially friendly. So, in return for their support, we urge you to cater to the local businessmen, thus promoting the prosperity of our community.

We are also grateful to the merchants in their support of the school paper. They have backed Montpelier High School in sports, music, and drama. To them, we express our sincere thanks.
